Brien Engel
Glass Harp Music
(404) 633 9322

1888 Alderbrook Rd NE, Atlanta, GA 30345
glassharp@mindspring.com
www.glassharp.org

Glass Harp Music Assembly Programs

Music... Physics... History... Imagination!

Schools! Cultural Arts sponsors! PTAs! Invite Brien Engel to your school to expose students to the science of physics and sound through the magic of a unique musical instrument.

Brien is one of very few people reviving and promoting the enchanting art of glass music. His instrument is a glass harp, consisting of 50 glasses of different sizes, which he plays by carefully rubbing the rims with his moistened fingers. Brien has made notable strides in bringing unusual and challenging styles of playing to this instrument, particularly as a jazz musician.

He has been hailed by teachers and administrators for his rapport with young people and singular ability to weave his art into curriculum, leaving students amazed and inspired!

STUDENTS LEARN:

- All about the glass harp.
- Related concepts of physics and sound.
- The history of water-tuned and glass music.
- To experiment with different ways of making music, and to develop their own creative eyes and ears.

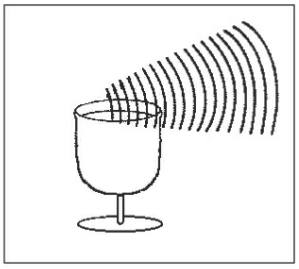
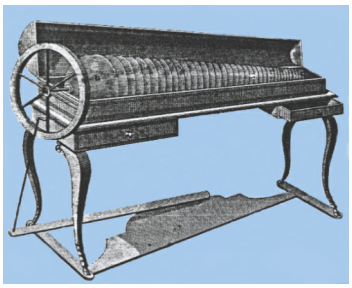
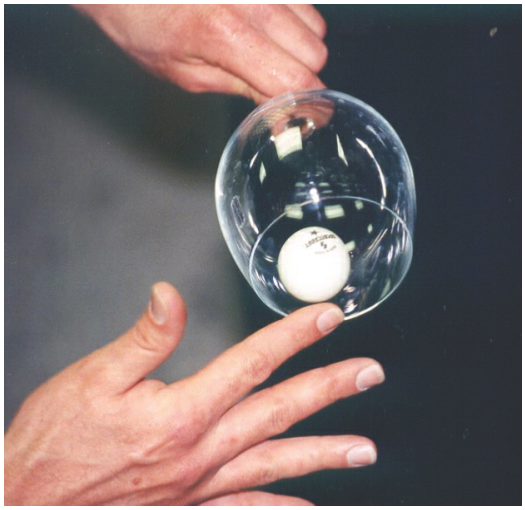
hands-on workshops available







AFFILIATIONS

Georgia Council for the Arts
Touring Artists Roster
Young Audiences Southeast Texas
Young Audiences Northeast Texas
The Kentucky Center
United Arts Raleigh/Wake County
South Carolina Arts Commission
Approved Artist Roster
Capital Region BOCES
Dutchess County BOCES
Oswego County BOCES

Performances also include audience participation, Tibetan bowls, musical saw, bird whistles, glass armonica, and water-tuned bowls.

Over 2,500 performances given in K-12 schools.
Study guide now online!* Visit www.glassharp.org to view.